6. Prohibited Multi-Client and Third-Party Use

Snapiens accounts—whether individual or organizational—may only be used to create, manage, and deploy knowledge, agents, or automations for the direct benefit of the account holder or the single organization associated with that account.

You may not use Snapiens to create, deploy, operate, or manage agents, knowledge structures, or workspaces for multiple businesses, clients, or third-party entities, including but not limited to:

- Using a personal or single-company subscription to host knowledge for external clients;
- AI agencies or consultants deploying agents for several customers under one subscription;
- Creating separate Spaces, Folders, or workspaces for unrelated businesses within one account;
- Reselling, sublicensing, or offering Snapiens-powered agents without an approved partner agreement.

Permitted Scenario (Clarification)

A company may invite external contractors, consultants, or agencies to work within its own workspace for the sole purpose of building or managing that company's knowledge and agents. In this case, the agency is considered a service provider acting on behalf of the account owner, not a multi-client operator.

Enforcement and Penalties

Any use of Snapiens to serve multiple unrelated clients or organizations under a single subscription constitutes misuse of the Services and may result in:

- Immediate suspension or termination of the account;
- Removal or deactivation of deployed agents;
- Loss of access to the platform;
- Any additional remedies available under applicable law.

To operate Snapiens on behalf of multiple clients, you must obtain a separate commercial license or partner agreement explicitly authorizing such use.
